E-Legislative Update

February 1, 2010

This is an exciting week for our community, as this Thursday, February 4, 2010 is Asian Pacific American Legislative Day. Through the efforts of over twenty-five Asian Pacific Islander community groups from around the state, members of Washington State's Asian Pacific American community will come together at the state Capitol to participate in the legislative process.

We are in the fourth week of the legislative session and committee hearings in the House and Senate are still in progress. Tomorrow, February 2nd, is the final day that committees in the House of Representatives can hear House bills. This means that bills originating out of the House must be heard and voted out of the committee if they are to move forward in the legislative process. The Senate will continue to hear bills in policy committees for an additional week.

This is the time where you have an opportunity to testify on a bill. If you cannot appear before a committee, contact your legislator making your position on a bill known. You can do so by writing a letter, sending an e-mail, calling the legislator's Olympia office, or by calling the Legislative Hotline at 1-800-562-6000.

The Commission on Asian Pacific American Affairs legislative priorities focus on state budget development and bills that impact the Asian Pacific American community in the areas of education, health care, human services, economic development, and immigration.

The legislature discussed the following bills and issues of interest to the Asian Pacific American community last week.

Week Three Highlights:

Governor Gregoire held a press conference calling for national health reform. She stated that health care is now one third of Washington's budget. Insurance Commissioner Mike Kreidler stated that a record one million people in Washington will be uninsured due to the economic downturn. The Governor plans to discuss possible new revenue sources after the state revenue forecast on February 12th.

The legislature discussed the following bills and issues of interest to the Asian Pacific American community last week.

Highlights of legislative discussion in EDUCATION:

- Senate Early Learning and K-12 Committee held a discussion on education reform and SB 6630 updating references to the Washington assessment of student learning, SB 6629 convening a working group to make recommendations defining a basic education program for highly capable students and SB 6517 promoting early learning.
